$1.10NOTED SINGER WHO COMES HERE FRIDAY NIGHT
SHOWN STANDING IN ANCIENT LIND THEATERYVONNE DE TREVILLE AT JENNY LIND THEATER

The above picture shows Yvonne de Treville, standing in front of what remains of the Jenny Lind Theater (1850) at Monterey, California, for the restoration of which Miss de Treville will give a performance of her costume recital Three Centuries of Prima Donna during her Pacific coast tour, in the second part of the recital here, Miss de Treville impersonates Jenny Lind and sings arias from the repertoire of the famous Swedish Nightingale. Through the boards of the window in the picture, Jenny Lind appears to be peering out. The inset at the left hand corner is Yvonne de Treville.

Miss de Treville gives a charming recital in costume and with appropriate stage settings at the Armory in Salem, Friday, January 16.

FREE-FOR-ALL FIGHT RESULTS IN THIS SUIT

Because Bill Hit Bob and Bob hit Bill, a general free-for-all fight ensued at a meeting held by the taxpayers near Mehama recently, Judge Kelly is today hearing the case of R. S. Montgomery against William, Ben and Gail Berringer in the circuit court. The plaintiff is suing the three defendants for damages in the sum of $3550 for an alleged assault upon his person.

According to the testimony given this morning by witnesses for both sides, a road meeting was in session in the Mehama district, and the parties to the action becoming dissatisfied as to who should be elected road supervisor, got to quarrelling, and a fight soon followed in which the plaintiff was badly beaten up.

The murderer's victim suffers but a few moments—the victim of the libertine is maimed for life.

Promoter.

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.]

Paris, Jan. 14.—Jack Johnson and Frank Moran of Pittsburgh signed articles at noon today for a 20-round bout here in June, the exact date to be announced later. Johnson was guaranteed $30,000 and allowed $5,000 for training expenses.

Following the signing of the articles Promoter Charles McCarthy deposited a check in the Lyonnaise bank for $25,000. Johnson's white wife will cash the check on the day of the fight.

Johnson demanded interest on the check until June 1, but McCarthy objected.

"You should have been named Rockefeller," the promoter said.

"Rockefeller has a lot of money," Johnson came back, "but he is after more, and so am I. At that, I had rather have my business than Rockefeller's."

Morgan was guaranteed $5,000 for his end. The fight probably will be staged during Grand Prix week. As Johnson, Moran and the promoters drank champagne at the Daupine restaurant, moving pictures were taken. Many society people, anxious to see the celebrities, were present.

ROHRER SOLD TO SACRAMENTO CLUB

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.]

Oakland, Cal., Jan. 14.—The Oakland Pacific Coast league baseball club announced today the outright sale of Catcher Rohrer to the Sacramento club. The price paid was not given.

JABS AND JOLTS

The last argument between Messrs. Langford and Jeanette drew $11,370, showing that Paris also has a birth rate of one per minute.

Some of the athletes on the world tour were afflicted with mal de mer. This is due to the fact that their stomachs are not accustomed to anything richer than free lunch during the off season.

Oh, to be a lawyer,
And with the lawyers stand,
While baseball magnates scatter wealth
About the blessed land.

The proposal to match Jack Johnson and Gumbert Smith in Mexico is highly acceptable to citizens of this United States.

Still, the proposal itself shows that somebody has a terrible grudge against Mexico.

New York's boxing commission did well to decide Bob Fitzsimmons too old to re-enter the ring. Why, he is almost as old as Jimmy Shekard.

Mr. Fitzsimmons, however, will be amply avenged. He threatens to renounce his American citizenship and leave the U. S. A. flat on its back.

While it is true that Larry McLean has become an actor, there is no foundation for the rumor that he is starring in "Ten Nights in a Barroom."

The tumult and the shouting dies,
The old year hastens to depart.
John Bull looks on with tearful eyes
And there is sorrow in his heart.
Though memories fill him with regret,
He can't forget, he can't forget.

SHORTHAND WRITING MACHINE IS RAPID

Writing at a speed of 600 words a minute on familiar matter and 200 words a minute on new matter, K. A. Derman operated the stenotype, a lately invented shorthand typewriting machine, at the Capital Business College yesterday afternoon. The machine resembles a typewriter, and differs in the fact that any number of letters may be struck at once, and will not clash. Speed, accuracy and legibility are claimed for it.

Another public demonstration, to which stenographers, business men and all others interested are invited, will be held this evening at 7:30, at the college.

INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL NOT WELL EQUIPPED

That the state should create an institution for the reforming of parents is equally important as the training school for girls is the belief of the grand jury which was instructed by Judge Cleeton to investigate the conditions existing at the Oregon Industrial Training School for Girls, according to the wording of a report made by the body late yesterday to Circuit Judge Kelly. The grand jury sets forth in its report that cases of extreme lawlessness among the girl and young women inmates of the institution are the results of poor management and neglect on the part of the parents of the girls.

The grand jury, further reporting, advises the court and the public that the training school is far inadequate to carry out the purposes for which the institution is intended in the act which created it. The members of the body declare that there is no way in which the inmates can be segregated and that the ones practically innocent of misdoing are compelled to associate with those who are committed to the place for unmentionable crimes.

The jury pays high compliments to the officers of the school and says that they are doing everything in their power towards carrying out the duties imposed upon them by the rules laid down by law.

BATTLE IS ON

ement did not wait to see how the unionists would behave. Its proclamation followed swiftly that of the trades federation. Meetings were prohibited. Picketing was declared unlawful. The death penalty was provided for anyone found in possession of dynamite. The troops were ordered to fire at night on prowlers about buildings the strikers might naturally be suspected of wishing destroyed.

The railroad tieup grew worse. In the Transvaal and Grange state it was practically complete. In Cape Colony it was partial, and more men were going out every hour. In Natal they were beginning to quit. Provisions were running short in many places.

In the event of wide recognition of the general strike order it was plain that every industry in South Africa would be absolutely paralyzed. Even shop assistants and clerks are organized.

Practically the country's entire military force was in the field. The authorities were no longer trying to keep the soldiers in the background. Their uniforms were seen everywhere.
